8:45-9:15 Stephen Straight

Steve Straight is the author of The Water Carrier, published by Curbstone Press (2002), now in a second printing. Poetry from the book has been featured on Garrison Keillor's Writer's Almanac. He has also published a chapbook, The Deepest Breath. He has given readings in a wide variety of venues, including the Sunken Garden Poetry Festival in Farmington, CT, the Aran Islands Poetry Festival in Galway, Ireland, and in poetry series around New England. A teacher for 25 years, Straight is a professor of English and director of the poetry program at Manchester Community College. In 1998 he was named a distinguished Advocate for the Arts by the Connecticut Commission on the Arts.

9:30-10:45 First Session

11:00-11:45 Lunch (grades 6-8)
Flocabulary (grades 9-12)

Flocabulary uses the educational power and social appeal of hip-hop music to foster literacy and promote academic success in the classroom and beyond. Students and teachers should prepare themselves for a dynamic performance!

12:00-12:45 Lunch (grades 9-12)
Flocabulary (grades 6-8)

1:00-2:15 Second Session

2:30-3:30 Closing Performance and sharing

Join the Connecticut Writing Project for a day-long conference where teachers and students can discuss and practice a variety of writing styles under the supervision of master teachers and writers. The dialogues generated here will inspire writers of all ages to continue to use writing to improve thinking, promote self understanding, foster personal growth, as well as inspire creative and professional communication.
